The Quilt Fest of New Jersey features many special exhibitions including the juried and judged “Tri-State Quilt Competition” highlighting an array of quilts created by residents of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. In addition, attendees to this event will not want to miss the exhibit of the beautiful award winning quilts of the 2010 Mid-Atlantic Quilt Festival.

“The Quilt Fest is the perfect cure for cabin fever,” states David Mancuso, a partner in Mancuso Show Management based in New Hope, PA. “The early March dates bring people out to this easy to reach location.” “The Holiday Inn hotel, located directly across the street from the Exhibit Center, and where a number of the Festival’s workshops take place, also makes for a great weekend getaway.”

A wide range of workshops and lectures for beginners as well as for the more advanced quilt artist will be offered throughout the festival. Any quilt or textile art enthusiast who is interested in learning new techniques can learn from an exceptional faculty including Gloria Loughman of Australia and Christine Fries, Lois Smith, Bobbie Bergquist, Diane Dennis, Deb Tucker, and Phyllis Hatcher.
